

Community Renewable Energy in the Nambucca Valley

The Nambucca Heads Men's Shed is very excited to be working with the Foundation for Regional & Rural Renewal (FRRR) to investigate options for renewable energy in the Valley. We have secured some funding to support local Not for Profit (NFP) organisations to better understand how to participate in renewable energy, lower electricity bills and be sustainable into the future.

In the New Year, we will consult with NFPs to learn about their priorities and ideas around renewable energy and lowering their emissions and bills. The Community Power Agency will be helping us to do this work and our aim is to identify some small-scale energy solutions for NFPs, such as energy efficiency programs, roof-top solar installations and batteries that will increase the resilience of these important organisations.

We encourage any local NFP that is keen to learn more about this project or that would like to participate in the consultations next year to get in touch with us. With so much talk of climate change and many communities already taking action, this is a chance to do our bit!

As long as you are a registered NFP you are welcome to join the project so please reach out to get involved or to learn more.
